

Gone in sixty seconds?

Keyless Car Crime: Criminal gangs have developed ways to pick up the signal from a keyfob inside a building and transmit it to the car. Then they can just get in, hit 'drive' and leave with the vehicle – all done in as little as a minute, without any actions that seem suspicious.

It's likely there will be new solutions to this challenge, but at the moment, it makes sense for motorists to take steps to protect themselves. Here are five ideas to help you get started.

01

Try to switch off your keyfob

02

Block the signal with a Faraday pouch

03

Keep keys away from windows and doors

04

Make it harder to drive the car away - lock the steering wheel, block the drive or even clamp the wheels.

05

Make it easier for the car to be recovered with a tracking device
